*A hundred times we have thought:
New York is a
catastrophe and fifty
times: it is a beautiful catastrophe.*
-Le Corbusier
